In mathematics and computer science, an algorithm ($\langle \mathbb{N}^k \rightarrow \mathbb{N} \rangle$) is an unambiguous specification of how to solve a class of problems. Algorithms can perform calculation, data processing, and automated reasoning tasks.. As an effective method, an algorithm can be expressed within a finite amount of space and time and in a well-defined formal language for calculating a function.

In computational complexity theory, NP (nondeterministic polynomial time) is a complexity class used to classify decision problems. NP is the set of decision problems for which the problem instances, where the answer is "yes", have proofs verifiable in polynomial time.. An equivalent definition of NP is the set of decision problems solvable in polynomial time by a non-deterministic Turing machine.

CS-102 Logical Organization of Computers . Aims There are two views of computer architecture. The traditional view, dating back to the IBM System/360 from the early 1960's, is that the architecture of a computer is the programmer-visible view of the machine, while its implementation is the province of the hardware designer.
